COVER STORY

COURTESY STEVE ALLEN

DONNA M. STUMPF

Executive director, Animal Humane New Mexico

Pet: Orbit

Breed: long-haired orange tabby

➤ Stumpf was recently promoted to executive director at Animal Humane. "There is no better way to start the day than to see their beautiful faces."

COURTESY DANNY W. JARRETT

DANNY W. JARRETT

Managing principal, Albuquerque office of Jackson Lewis P.C.

Pet: Truffles

Breed: Border collie/blue heeler

➤ Jarrett adopted Truffles from New Mexico Animal Friends. "I call the neighborhood park 'Truffles' Park.' She is always so happy to see me when I get home from a long day. She gives me a whole new enthusiasm for life and adventure."

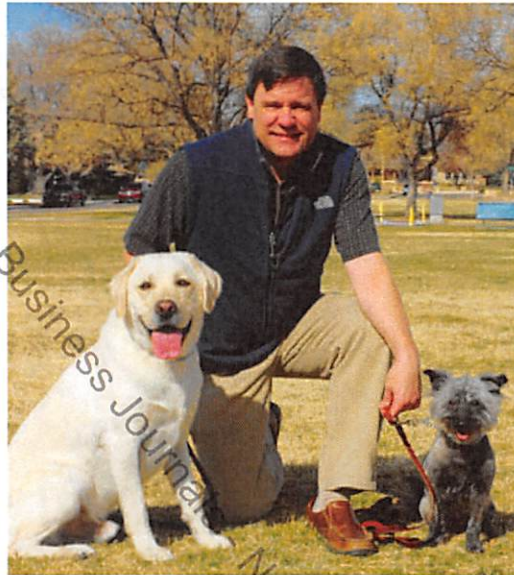

JIM CHYNOWETH

Managing director at CBRE | New Mexico; qualifying broker for the CBRE Southwest region and retail functional leader

Pets: Django and Ruby

Breeds: white Labrador and cairnoodle

➤ Chynoweth is known for his sense of humor, but don't let that fool you into thinking his job isn't rough. Going to city parks with his pooches helps, he says, to unwind.

TODD CLARKE

Founder, New Mexico Apartment Advisors

Pets: Jake and Doc

Breeds: puggle (pug/beagle) and foxuahla (fox/chihuahua)

➤ Clarke, not pictured here, had two dogs so cute we had to include them. Jake was rescued by Clarke, who said he was going to be put down for being overbred. Doc was rescued as well, and can "play the piano."

RANDOLPH M. SANCHEZ

Senior general manager, Coronado Center

Pet: Lilly Bell

Breed: Yorkshire terrier

➤ "I believe Albuquerque is very pet-friendly. Most of my neighbors growing up in the South Valley had pets, and even now, living on the Westside, most neighbors have pets."

➤ PET-FRIENDLINESS RANK

WalletHub compared the pet-friendliness of the 100 largest U.S. cities across 16 key metrics in 2015. Here's where Albuquerque landed. Cincinnati was No. 1 overall, while Newark, New Jersey was No. 100.
